Meet School Board member, class of 1991

Name: Virginia Savietto

City of residence:

West Palm Beach

Current occupation:

School Board Member, District 2

Year graduated: 1991

Higher education:

Master of Arts in Business, Marketing & Project Management

Magnet program at LWHS? No.

Sum up your time at Lake Worth High in one sentence:

Coming to Lake Worth High in ninth grade from Argentina with no knowledge of English was a major adjustment, as both the culture and school system were completely different from what I had known.

What class/teacher did you look forward to each day?

I looked forward to art class every day, as it gave me a way to express myself without needing to speak perfect English — art felt like a universal language that bridged the gap while I was still learning.

I was also part of the Art Club and the FEA (Future Educators of America), which helped me connect with others and grow personally. I loved playing tennis and soccer — extracurricular activities like these didn't exist in the same way back in Argentina, so having the opportunity to participate in them made my high school experience even more special.

Did you have an after-school job while you were at LWHS? No.

50 Years of memories

The class of 1975 kicked off its reunion with a tour of the campus, followed by drinks and hors d'oeuvres at Lake Worth's Irish Brigade. More photos from this reunion and others on pages 4 and 5.

President's message

Now the ball's in your court

By Ann Carter

Foundation board president

Sports metaphors are often used because they are so descriptive and familiar. Home Run. Goooooooooal. Slam Dunk. So I'll risk my reputation as a communicator to discuss the Foundation in sports terms.

The Foundation had a great first period, led by Dave Cantley, Dennis and Doris Dorsey, Al Elam, John Adair and Virginia Thomas. They had a deep bench with others filling lots of positions as well as drawing many fans.

The second quarter was a rout. With such strong backing, the Foundation ran up the score, funding scholarships and bringing in fans with spaghetti dinners, cookouts, lunches, golf tournaments and other fund-raisers. The seventh-inning stretch came with the pandemic, a sort of rain delay, disrupting our momentum.

Certificates a marker of hard work

By Elena Villani

Greetings from the Home of the Trojans!

As we approach the end of another incredible school year, we are thrilled to share that we're gearing up for a memorable graduation celebration for the Class of 2025. Our seniors are working hard, staying focused, and finishing strong!

We are especially proud to announce that this year's senior class has earned over 700 industry certifications — a powerful testament to their dedication and to the career-readiness opportunities we continue to build at Lake Worth High.

These certifications span multiple fields, including healthcare, technology, child care, construction, Biotechnology, and more, giving our graduates a strong head start toward future success.

Talk, trivia at fall luncheon

About 60 LWHS Alumni Foundation members and friends met for lunch at Mel's Way Bistro last November.

Maggie Shamo Witherow, class of 1950, and Kathy Snyder Graves, 1953, arranged a lovely afternoon, especially Kathy's centerpieces for the tables. Maggie was in a wheelchair following a broken bone. We were pleased to greet School Board member Erica Whitfield. Those attending answered LWHS trivia questions, picked out door prizes and bought 50/50 raffle tickets. Kathy Dummett won the raffle, taking home $200.

LWHS trivia questions can be found on page 8.

More than a little night music

Top-rated band shows the stuff it's made of

On April 25, the LWCHS auditorium rang with the sounds of the Trojan Sound Symphonic Band, with 94 student musicians entertaining the crowd.

The big announcement was that the Marching Band and Symphonic Band received Superior (A+) ratings at State Contest, the first time in 15 years that both received that rating in the same year!

Congratulations to band director Alondra Bahls-Mariles!

-- Ann Carter

Salute to JROTC

Lake Worth Beach Mayor Betty Resch recognized the LWCHS JROTC seniors at her annual lunch. Her Honor said, "These kids work so hard, and get such great guidance. Many are enlisting, some to trades, and some to college. They all thought the program was very beneficial for them."

World Night

What do you do when your school represents dozens of cultures and origins? You have a World Night! Lots of countries were recog-

Class of 1975

Members of the class of 1975 demonstrate that, while it may have been 50 years, they’re doing fine.

A milestone celebrated with style

A 50-year reunion is a special occasion and the class of 1975 took that challenge to heart. The weekend of April 25 started with a tour of the campus, led by students from Latinos in Action. The students explained the purposes of the buildings, old and new, while about 30 or 40 alumni told what had stood in those places back in the day. Photos were taken in front of what had been the administration building, now Building 6. The upper floors are still foreign language classrooms, just as they were in the 1970s. Later on Friday, the capacity of the back room at Irish Brigade in Lake Worth Beach was tested by 70 or so classmates and spouses. Longtime friends swapped stories with those they hadn’t seen in a long time. Twelve class members played at Park Ridge Golf Course on Saturday morning, while others took the time to rest up for Saturday night’s festivities.

About 30 members of the class of 1975 kicked off the reunion weekend with a campus tour. Here they are outside the music building.

That was when the action moved to Mel’s Way Bistro in Greenacres. About 100 alumni and spouses enjoyed the food, the welcoming atmosphere and the DJ’s tunes. The reunion’s past organizers recognized various accomplishments in the 50 years, from long marriages, numerous offspring and first responders.

Sixty years have passed and it’s been real

Everyone keeps saying how it doesn’t seem like 60 years. That’s three-quarters of the lives of these graduates. Peggy Penzarek, Pat Murphy and others pulled together a beautiful evening, with awesome music taking us all back to the 1960s. Whether talking about those teenage years or discovering how much their lives intersected over the decades, the class of 1965 knew how to party. As they have before, the class opened its reunion to those from classes 1963-1967, which made for even more memories. We’re looking forward to their 80th birthday party as well as the 65-year reunion

Classes of 1962-63

Bonds formed six decades ago

The years have flown, but the memories stayed. Graduates from 1962-63 got together in April to remember the good times and those who were no longer with us. Friday night the Beach Club overflowed with lively conversation. On Saturday afternoon, Mel's Way Bistro was rocking with the tunes of the early 60s, music that got folks up on the floor.

Jeepers Creepers! Look at the peepers on these classmates as they celebrate being octogenarians.

The party kicked off on Friday night with hors d'oeuvres and drinks at the Beach Club on the Municipal Golf Course in Lake Worth. Lots of memories, lots of smiles.

Breakfast at Farmer Girl in February: from left, Michelle Olmstead, 1981, Patty Campbell, 1983, Dolores Ramirez, 2017, and Lisa Gleason, 2003.

Food & friends

The most amazing discovery about breakfast at Farmer Girl restaurant is the number of alumni who show up -- without knowing that I'm there to meet alumni. Three of those in the above photo are employees of the restaurant. In only three visits, I've also met at least five LWHS graduates from the 1960s to the 2000s. These include Patty Campbell from 1983 -- who's been there almost every time -- and Deputy Clinton Cohen from 1988. And all the graduates we've met from the classes of the 80s and 90s raved about Principal David Cantley, LWHS' longest-serving and best-looking principal.

More than just lunch

Kathy Snyder Graves has coordinated lunch at the Greenacres Olive Garden for years, and she works to make each event special. Kathy, class of 1953, ensures each table is festively decorated. The Easter Bunny visited the April lunch with treats for those attending. If you want to be on the e-mail list for this luncheon, contact Kathy at kathysnydergraves@yahoo.com

Lots of graduate gatherings going on

The events on this page look like fun and are a fraction of the places alumni gather. Several groups connect through Facebook, with groups like Lake Worth High School, FL - 50's, 60's, 70's, which meets at the Beach Club on the golf course the first Tuesday of every month. If you're part of a regularly meeting group and are looking for other graduates, share this information on Lake Worth High Alumni group or contact me, Ann Carter, 954-471-5758 or lwhsalumni@event@gmail.com

Planning a class re-union? Let us know. We'll share the information on our social media connections, plus make plans to attend. Contact Ann Carter, 954-471-5758 or e-mail anncarter@rocketmail.com

The Class of 2015 re-union will be Saturday evening, May 24, at the Bamboo Room in downtown Lake Worth Beach.

What did you learn at Lake Worth High School that you’ve found useful in your adult life?

At Lake Worth High School, I not only learned through my ESOL classes, but I also built lifelong friendships that continue to support me to this day. More than anything, I developed social and emotional skills — like resilience, empathy, and confidence — that have shaped who I am as an adult. Navigating a new language and culture wasn’t easy, but it taught me how to adapt, connect with others, ask for help when I needed it, and believe in myself even when things felt overwhelming. It was also my first real interaction with Latinos from so many different countries — while we all spoke Spanish, I was fascinated by the unique differences in our food, music, traditions, and perspectives. That experience opened my heart and mind to the richness of our diversity and the strength of our shared roots. It taught me the beauty of cultural connection and the power of community.

What advice would you give to today’s students?

My advice to today’s students is to slow down, reflect, and really take the time to assess your vision. What is it that you love doing? What are your talents, and how can you use them to choose a career that not only brings you success, but also gives you purpose and allows you to serve something greater than yourself? Then, draft a plan. Get clear about who you are — your identity, your values, your personal brand. Surround yourself with the people who uplift you, mentor you, and believe in you. Find your tribe. And finally, take action. Set clear goals, identify the resources you’ll need, and don’t be afraid to name the challenges you might face. Life is about building and maintaining relationships, personally and professionally, and knowing by when you want to achieve each step. Great things take time... Remember: Butterflies don’t just wake up with wings! Life is a journey — enjoy all of it. Even failures come with lessons. Your attitude toward life is a choice... choose every day to be happy, productive, kind, and focused — regardless of the circumstances.

Our students shine academically, artistically, and athletically, and we are proud of their achievements in and out of the classroom. The Trojan spirit is alive and well, and it’s been a year full of growth, perseverance, and pride. We’re also looking forward to celebrating many of our seniors who will be awarded Dollars for Scholars scholarships, helping them take the next steps in their educational journeys. This support makes a real difference, and we’re so grateful to the community partners who make it possible. To our alumni community, thank you for your continued support and encouragement. Your legacy lives on through our students, and we hope you feel proud of the bright future being built here at Lake Worth Community High School. Go Trojans!

Lake Worth Community High School Centennial Celebration Brick Order Form

To honor of the Centennial Celebration of Lake Worth High School (1922-2022), the “Pave the Way” brick fundraiser that began many years ago has been revitalized to continue its efforts in raising funds to support the mission of the Alumni Foundation to provide grants and scholarships for the general benefit of the school and its students. Bricks are limited, so hurry and order yours today!

Cost is $135 per brick. All orders are final.
No cancellations or refunds will be accepted.

After-school workshops increase participation

By Lady Hereford

President, Dollars for Scholars

Sometimes help arrives from afar. Other times, it’s right in front of you.

The latter was the situation this spring when Lake Worth Community High School seniors were working on completing their Dollars for Scholars applications. The applications are completed online, but it is a multistep process that is often time-consuming. There are some essay-type questions. Some students start the process but do not finish. This year, students were able to receive help during after-school workshops held in the school’s media center. These workshops were a collaborative effort involving LWCHS and an initiative known as Community Partnership Schools. As the name implies, Community Partnership Schools bring together public, private and nonprofit entities to help students succeed. The program reaches nearly 40 schools throughout Florida. There are two in Palm Beach County: Lake Worth Community High School and John F. Kennedy Middle School in Riviera Beach.

At LWCHS, the program is run by a dynamic and caring director named Ms. Rebecca Harley. When she learned of the situation involving DFS applicants from Principal Elena Villani, she organized three workshops to help students. DFS and Alumni Foundation board members volunteered to assist her with staffing the workshops. Margaret Salazar Gomez and LaJayah Blain, two of the school’s counselors, and others at the school provided support. Dozens of students attended the workshops, and in the end, more than 70 students submitted applications.

This month, the recipients of the scholarships will be recognized during a ceremony at the school. As always during this time of year, I’m reminded of how much of DFS’s success is due to our community and individual donors. We are grateful to each of them for their generosity.

Lastly, I offer a special thank-you to one of our longtime Scholarship Committee members. Maggie Cooper has been a champion for DFS and has helped spread the word about our Barry Grunow Scholarship, the only one of our scholarships that is open to all high school seniors planning to pursue teaching as a career. Maggie recently stepped down from the Scholarship Committee, but her impact will be felt for years to come. If you are interested in serving as a donor or volunteer for DFS, please e-mail us at lakeworthdollarsforscholars@gmail.com. We look forward to hearing from you.

How much do you know about LWHS history?

- How many students were in the first graduating class?
- In what sport did LWHS take its first state title? Extra credit for the year.
- Current PB County Sheriff Ric Bradshaw graduated in what class?
- Name a landmark that's NOT on-campus that is named for a LWHS graduate.
- For what "first" do we remember Theresa Jakes and Johnnie Green?
- There were three sports in which Trojans were District champs for four consecutive years. Name one.
- Which band director wrote the alma mater, "The Light of Our Learning"?
- What was the name of the first school newspaper?
- What was the first magnet program at LWHS? Extra credit for the year?
- Who was the longest serving principal at LWHS?
- Name a graduate of LWHS who has served in elective office.
- In what sport did LWHS athletes win the most titles, district, regional and state?
- Clyde Harris, class of 1925, holds what distinction?
- Where did the swim team practice before 1959?
- Why should we remember Robert Fulton (Class of 1934)?

Or like halftime; in the locker room discussing how to keep moving forward. Runaway games have been lost because the team stopped playing before the game’s end. Many of the Foundation’s early leaders stepped aside for new leaders, new ideas. But as we invite the next generations onto the team, it seems we’re playing football while they play soccer. My energy and enthusiasm have garnered lots of positive comments, but not much action. This is a call to action. The Foundation needs your support, your ideas, your time. It’s time to get off the bench and into the game.
